

REPORT: RANGOLI CELEBRATION 2025

Venue :- Department of Statistics

Date :- 17th October

Respected Sir/Madam,

With the festival of lights around the corner, the Heritage Club, Department of Statistics, University of Delhi, organized a vibrant Rangoli-making event on October 17, 2025, in the department premises to celebrate the spirit and joy of Diwali.

Rangoli has always held a sacred and artistic place in Indian culture. Deeply rooted in our traditions, it symbolizes prosperity, festivity, and the welcoming of divine blessings. Beyond its intricate designs, Rangoli unites people through creativity, colour, and community spirit-illuminating the essence of our shared cultural heritage.

The event commenced in the afternoon, shortly after the mid-semester examinations concluded, allowing students to relax and immerse themselves in the festive atmosphere. The premises were beautifully decorated with garlands, flowers, and glowing diyas, transforming the department into a canvas of celebration.

Under the guidance of faculty members and the Heritage Club coordinators, students created a magnificent peacock-themed Rangoli near the main staircase. Smaller Rangolis adorned the flower pots and corners of the department, adding splashes of color everywhere. The air was filled with cheer and laughter as everyone came together to contribute in their own special way.

The program was gracefully hosted by Amritansh, whose warmth and enthusiasm kept the audience engaged throughout. The celebration began with a soulful flute performance by Yash Pathak, which enchanted everyone present and beautifully set the festive tone.

Following the performance, our Head of Department, Professor Girish Chandra, addressed the gathering with an inspiring speech on the importance of art, tradition, and unity in academic life. His words resonated deeply with both students and faculty, reminding everyone of the deeper meaning behind such cultural celebrations.

As the event drew to a close, the atmosphere brimmed with joy and togetherness. In keeping with festive tradition, Boondi prasad was reverently distributed among all participants and attendees, marking a sweet and satisfying conclusion to the celebration.

The event was a resounding success, radiating happiness and harmony while reminding everyone of the rich cultural heritage that continues to shine within our department and beyond.

(Pictures of the event are attached below.)

The Heritage Club
Department of Statistics
Faculty of Mathematical Sciences
University of Delhi

Thank you for being a part of our celebration

~The Heritage Club ✨